

Four Cullen and Dykman Attorneys Attend 2015 Annual National Association of College and University Attorney (NACUA) Conference in Washington D.C.

July 20, 2015

Kevin McDonough, James Ryan, Dina Vespia and Hayley Dryer attended the Annual Conference of the National Association of College and University Attorneys from June 27 to July 1. The Annual NACUA Conference focuses on recent issues and legal developments in higher education law. These four attorneys attended both large panel sessions and small table discussions focused on specific campus legal issues, such as federal and state regulatory compliance (e.g. Title IX compliance) and campus safety and security (e.g., Clery Act). The Conference also afforded these attorneys the opportunity to converse and exchange formal and informal insights and knowledge with institutional colleagues from across the country.
