

Michael E. Joseph

Associate

MJoseph@cullenllp.com

New York City Office

Phone: 212.510.2291

Fax: 212.742.1219

Michael Joseph is an associate in the Cullen and Dykman's Construction Litigation practice group. Michael's practice consists of commercial, construction, insurance coverage and general tort litigation including premises liability, labor law and property damage, as well as the litigation of various commercial matters, including contractual disputes. Michael represents various construction companies, real estate owners, local government entities, and local municipalities.

Michael attended St. John's University School of Law where he served as an Executive Research Editor for the New York International Law Review and a Senior Staff Writer for the Commercial Division Online Law Report. Prior to joining Cullen and Dykman, Michael interned at the Federal Trade Commission Northeast Regional Office's Antitrust Division where he assisted in analyzing the anticompetitive impact of mergers and acquisitions in the healthcare industry.

Practices

- Construction Litigation
- Construction Defect
- Labor Law
- Large Exposure, Catastrophe and Event Response
- Products Liability
- Professional Liability
- General Liability, Tort and Insurance Defense
- Personal Injury/ Negligence
- Premises Liability
- Insurance Coverage and Risk Transfer

Bar Admissions

- New York
- New Jersey

Education

- J.D., St. John's University, 2019
- M.B.A., St. John's University, The Peter J. Tobin College of Business, 2015
- B.S., St. John's University, 2014

Professional and Community Activities

- Executive Research Editor, New York International Law Review, 2017-2019
- Senior Staff Member, Commercial Division Online Law Report, 2017-2019

Honors and Awards

- Recipient of the Michele G. Falkow Award for Excellence in Legal Writing, St. John's University School of Law, 2017